MEX AND THE CITY AT SANTOS PARTY HOUSE

Including St. Patrick's Day and New Year's Eve, Cinco de Mayo is one of the holiday nights every New Yorker should absolutely not celebrate in a bar or club. We'll make an exception this May 5th, however, for Santos Party House's party Mex and the City, in which they celebrate DJs Geko Jones and Uproot Andy's ongoing NYC Nacothèque/neo-cumbia/tropical bass night Que Bajo. Since Cinco de Mayo is actually sort of NBD in Mexico and more of an Americanized excuse to get drunk, the night's celebration of all things Mexican, Latin American and African makes it all the less phony. Food from taco truck El Ray del Sabor doesn't hurt either.

Santos Party House, 96 Lafayette St., (212) 584-5492. 9:30 p.m. $15.
